17 Aug 2020

Dear Travel Partner

In response to recent increased Covid-19 infections in Iceland and neighbouring countries, the Icelandic government announced a temporary measurement that all passengers arriving to Iceland must undergo 2 COVID tests. The first is at the border on arrival and the second by the primary healthcare service 4-6 days later. In between the 2 tests, arrivals must go into quarantine. The rule will go into effect on August 19.

Here are instructions from Iceland's Directorate of Health and further details on requirements to visit Iceland can be found here.

Please be reminded that our Peace of Mind policy is still in place and for the latest travel information including FAQ and safety requirements please click here.

We thank you for your continued support and valued efforts for our mutual customers as we work through this crisis together.