

Important Information - Comair liquidation

Dear Partner,

We're saddened to hear that Comair Limited, British Airways' franchise partner which operates flights within South Africa, has gone into liquidation.

We are sending our friends and colleagues at Comair our best wishes and we will provide support and assistance to our franchise partner in the coming days.

To support you, we've issued guidelines for impacted customers booked to travel on both point-to-point British Airways (Operated by Comair) services and also those due to connect from/to a British Airways longhaul service. This includes an agreement with Airlink (4Z) and also South African Airways (SA).

Please click the links below for details of these agreements:

We remain committed to South Africa and British Airways services between London and South Africa continue to operate as normal.
